You are preparing financially for your future. Then life happens. Whether you need portfolio liquidity for an unexpected opportunity or expense, selling investments may compromise your other financial goals. With an RBC Credit Access Line offered by the Royal Bank of Canada, you gain access to financing while maintaining your investment strategy.

Take a holistic approach to your financial life — Strategic use of credit may help you finance almost anything. Your credit score will be reviewed prior to line approval to help ensure a balanced and prudent liquidity strategy. Even if you never access your line, you know you have it—just in case.

Enjoy lower rates, flexible terms — As an interest-only demand loan, you benefit from competitive interest rates and flexibility to pay the balance when you choose.

Option of variable- or fixed-interest rate periods — Choose a variable- or fixed-interest rate most suitable to your needs. If your borrowing needs are longer term, your financial advisor can highlight all of your options.

Pay nothing until you use it — There is no cost to set up and there are no fees until you take an advance. Plus, you avoid tax liabilities and fees associated with selling securities.

Skip the paperwork — Your line will be ready to use within days. Simply complete the straightforward online application and e-sign loan documents. (Note: Wet signature is available upon request.)

Enjoy convenient online servicing — Once approved, you will have online access to monitor your loan balance and the value of collateral, request draws and make payments, all at your fingertips.

Risk monitoring — With the real-time online portal, you always know where your loan stands and can better manage risks.

Use credit to your advantage²

4 After December 31, 2021, the panel banks that submit rates required to calculate the LIBOR will no longer be required to do so. The transition away from LIBOR will require changes to the way that interest is calculated on loans that use the LIBOR as a benchmark. Borrowers with affected loans will be notified of such changes in advance of them taking effect.

RBC Credit Access Line is a securities-based, demand line of credit offered by Royal Bank of Canada, an Equal Opportunity Lender and a bank affiliate of RBC Capital Markets, LLC. Subject to credit approval. Securities-based loans involve special risks and are not suitable for everyone. You should review the provisions of the RBC Credit Access Line agreement and related disclosures, and consult with your own independent tax and legal advisors about any questions you have prior to using RBC Credit Access Line. Considerations should be given to loan requirements, portfolio composition and diversification, time horizon, risk tolerance, portfolio performance expectations, and individual tax situations. There are important risks associated with securities-based loans that you should consider:

- With an outstanding balance on your line, your accounts are pledged to the line of credit and are subject to certain collateral requirements.
- When your line is in use, you must maintain sufficient collateral to meet the maintenance requirements of the line of credit.
- If you choose a variable-interest rate, LIBOR\(^4\) rates are floating and update weekly, which means they are subject to change and may increase.
- If you choose a fixed-interest rate, your rate is not subject to change and will not increase over the term of your loan.
- If you sell assets to cover your loan, you will be responsible for transaction fees and/or tax liabilities.
- Your RBC Credit Access Line can never be used to purchase additional securities.

\(^4\) LIBOR as of 8/24/20 is 0.17513%. Spreads are indications only. Actual spreads can change depending on, but not limited to, the credit worthiness of the borrower. Spreads are subject to change at the discretion of Royal Bank of Canada.

A balanced approach to borrowing

Prior to taking an advance and whenever you have an outstanding balance, it’s important to understand the following risks:

- With an outstanding balance on your line, your accounts are pledged to the line of credit and are subject to certain collateral requirements.
- When your line is in use, you must maintain sufficient collateral to meet the maintenance requirements of the line of credit.
- If you choose a variable-interest rate, LIBOR\(^4\) rates are floating and update weekly, which means they are subject to change and may increase.
- If you choose a fixed-interest rate, your rate is not subject to change and will not increase over the term of your loan.
- If you sell assets to cover your loan, you will be responsible for transaction fees and/or tax liabilities.
- Your RBC Credit Access Line can never be used to purchase additional securities.
